It's a new year!

The holiday rush is over and the Infant room is gearing up for a fantastic 2015! Many amazing things will happen in our room over the next year and we look forward to experiencing them all with our old and new families.

To try and save ourselves from the headache of memorizing every single article of clothing each child in our room has, we have giant bags on their hooks in the hallway for coats, snow pants, hats and mittens. Remember though, we still need you to label everything!

For our part-time families please note that while we try to accommodate trade-a-day requests we have had many new families join our classroom and fill up some of our days so frequent day switches may not be possible anymore.

Alphabet Project

This month we will start our alphabet project. This is a project we do each year to try to introduce object/word/letter association to the children (you're never too young to start learning!) Each week we will learn one or two letters and do art, sensory and stories that focus on said letter. During this time you will see less art projects going home as we save the alphabet art to be bound in an alphabet book for your baby. We will continue working on this project until June.

Scholastic Book Order

Our January Scholastic book order will be due Wednesday, January 18th. Remember, reading aloud to your child is one of the best ways to introduce language skills to your child. Also, the more books parents purchase the more books we can buy to read at school. Please watch for the new book order in your child's hanging file folder.

Welcome New Friends!

This month we will have many new friends joining our classroom. I would like to welcome to the Infant Room Zoë and her parents Curt and Sarah and Elliot and his parents Jason and Laura. We would also like to welcome Brendan, Michelle and big brother Soren back to our room as they return with their daughter Wilhelmina. We hope everyone is ready to play, learn and grow together!
